

WILDLIFE FOR LUNCH

2017 Webinar Series

Photo by Russell Graves

Join the Texas Wildlife Association and Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service as they sponsor a series of lunchtime webinars on the third Thursday of every month. These webinars will provide sound, science-based information about wildlife, habitat and natural resource management. Whether one is a landowner, land manager, hunter or wildlife enthusiast, there is something in this webinar series for everyone.

IT'S EASY!

This webinar series can be viewed from the comfort of one's home, office or anywhere with a computer and internet connection. Broadcast during the lunch hour, the goal is to provide educational content without interrupting a normal work day. To log on, simply go to texas-wildlife.webex.com on the day of the webinar and click the presentation you wish to access.

NO NEED TO TRAVEL!

Each web-based seminar is fully interactive and allows you to engage the experts, make comments and ask questions during the course of the presentation.

MISSED THE SCHEDULED WEBINAR?

If you missed the initial webinar or would like to see what other topics have been offered in the past, each webinar is archived on TWA's website for future viewing. They can be found at www.texas-wildlife.org/webinars.
