

High Plains Food Web

Answer Key

Food webs show the flow of energy in an ecosystem. Using information from the feature article, draw arrows between the objects and critters below to create a High Plains food web! Remember, point the arrow to the species that is receiving the energy. For example - draw an arrow from the sun pointing to the grass, or from the grass pointing to the kangaroo rat.

